Having the ability to update my catalogs and pricing on the same platform where client ordering takes place is super helpful”

#Baonanas started as just two kids from Jersey City with a homemade banana pudding that was a constant hit at their get-togethers for family and friends. Since then, their mission has been to keep spreading the love they received by developing innovative flavors, using quality ingredients, producing small batches, launching their online store and vending at markets and college events, and collaborating with some of the finest establishments Jersey City has to offer. They will be expanding to the NYC area next.

“Managing our orders on an excel spreadsheet was a slow and unintuitive process that often lead to errors. The fact that our orders and catalogs are now all up-to-date and synced into one platform is incredibly valuable!”

Lloyd Ortuoste • Co-Founder @ #Baonanas

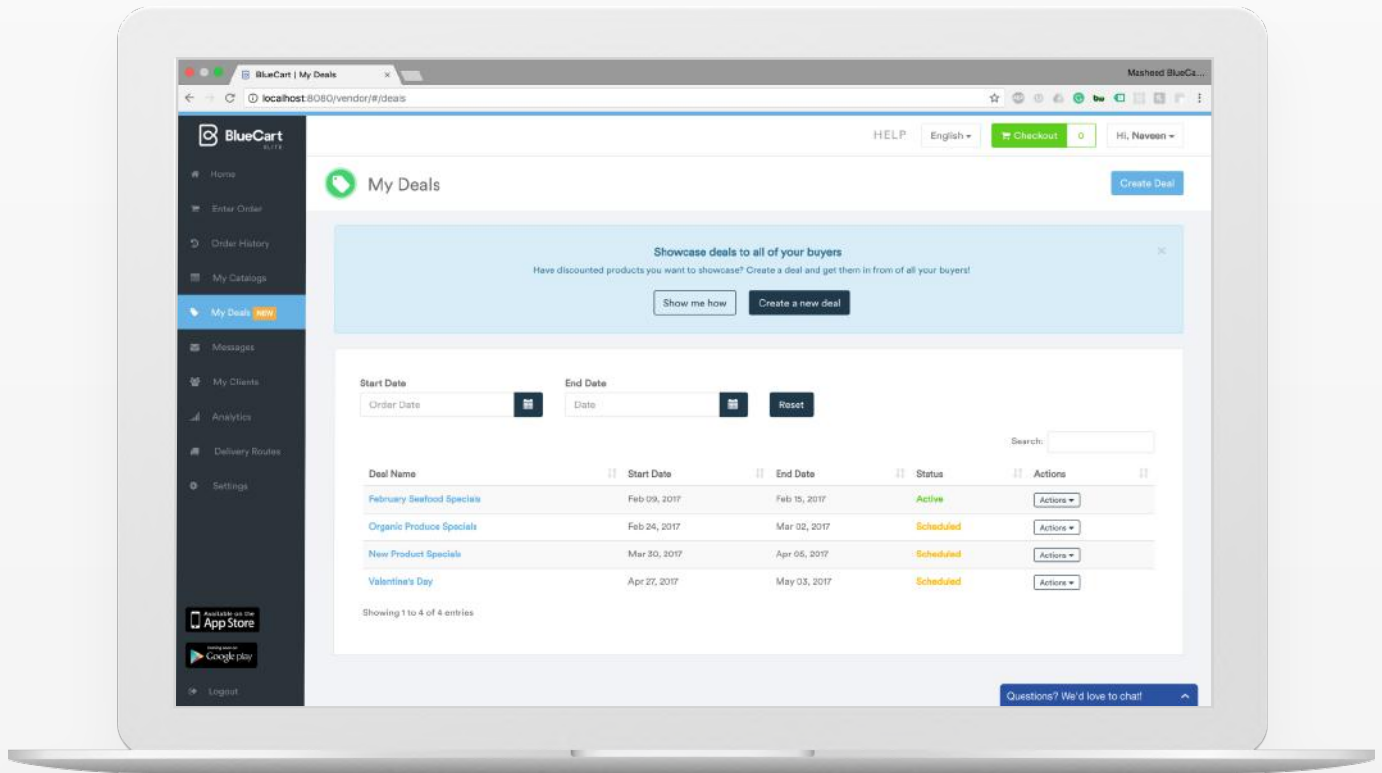

With their immediate demand for their dessert creations from farmers markets to expansion into cafes and restaurants, #Baonanas needed to add more staff and stop managing their business from excel spreadsheets and phone calls. It was clear this was going to be too time consuming and cause order errors, so they needed an online centralized platform to run better work with their customers. BlueCart provides a systemized process for order management with their restaurant and café customers.
